O'NEIL RECOVERS STOLEN CLOTHING

Two Indianapolis Men in Jail For Stealing Automobiles, Also
Give Over The Loot

CLOTHES VALUED AT $100

Found in a Trunk at One of The
Men's Home—Insurance Company Keeps The Auto

Robes and overcoats, amounting to $100, were recovered yesterday in Indianapolis by Carl O'Neil, Rushville man whose new automobile was stolen in that city on October 3, and which was recovered by detectives after two men had confessed to taking the machine.

The two men, Merl Horton and Nicholas Lavelle, owners of a garage in East Washington street, are in jail, after detectives found Horton riding in O'Neil's automobile, and when accused, he implicated Lavelle and eleven machines which they had taken from the streets of Indianapolis, were found in their garage.

Mr. O'Neil was notified Tuesday that his machine was recovered, and he went to Indianapolis yesterday afternoon to establish its identity. The machine was only three weeks old when it was stolen, and was an Overland touring car.

Mr. O'Neil stated that it had been dismantled and the engine number completely changed. His only sure means of identifying it was by a serial number concealed under a spring, which the two men had overlooked. Mr. O'Neil carried insurance on the machine and he has long since been paid in full and the machine was consigned to the insurance company yesterday. His main purpose in going to Indianapolis was to locate the wraps left in the machine, when it was stolen.

The two prisoners at first denied knowing about the coats and robes, and an investigation followed at the home of Lavelle, Washington Apartments, 19 Oriental street. Hidden in a trunk were overcoats belonging to Mr. O'Neil and his brother Henry, and a new coat belonging to Mrs. Carl O'Neil. Mrs. Henry O'Neil had an opera robe which was stolen, and this also was recovered.

Mrs. Lavelle wife of the prisoner, stated that Horton kept an Indian blanket as his part of the loot, and that she wanted it badly, so she traded him a pair of silk underwear for the blanket. She also produced this blanket. A wrench and a hammer, the property of Mr. O'Neil, also was found in the machine, which was another means of identifying it.

The clothing had, evidently not been used as it was in good condition. Mrs. Lavelle stated that she formerly was a actress, and the clothes were found in a trunk which she used while "on the road."

SEES CONSPIRACY TO BOOST COST OF HOMES

Sen. Calder of New York, Chairman
of Reconstruction Committee,
Says Report Will Prove It

URGES LICENSING AS CURE

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 6.—A nation wide conspiracy to boost prices for construction of homes has been unearthed by the senate committee on reconstruction, Senator Calder, New York, chairman of the committee, said in an interview today.

This conspiracy, Calder said, will be fully explained by the senate committee when it reports the result of the investigation to the senate next week.

He said it is similar to a combination exposed by the Lockwood committee in New York.

Calder also said he was considering introducing a bill requiring manufacturers and labor organizations to obtain a federal charter. This would in effect be federal licensing and such organizations will be forced to make a report of their activities to the government.

3 LOCAL BOYS ON CRUISE

Frank Muire, Archey Roam, Clyde
Osborne With Pacific Fleet

When the Pacific fleet left San Francisco to join the Atlantic fleet in Panama bay, for a cruise to South American waters, on some of the battleships, destroyers and cruisers were three Rushville boys.

The trio of local youths who have been looking forward to the trip are Frank Muire, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Muire; Archey Roam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Roam, and Clyde Osborne, son of Mrs. Lillian Osborne. All of them have served previous enlistments in the navy. Muire and Roam re-enlisted while in Rushville last November, for service with the Pacific fleet in order to go on the South American cruise. The Atlantic fleet left last night to join the Pacific fleet at Panama.

JOHNSON MAY ASK FOR A NEW TRIAL

Farmer Accused of Weighing Rock
to Defraud in Hog Purchase Fined
$50 and Given Ten Days

IS OUT ON ORIGINAL BOND

David A. Ricks Sues Arthur B.
Hall for Receivership—J. B. Hall
Defendant in Account Suit

John W. Johnson, farmer of northern Rush county, who was found guilty and fined $50 and given a ten day jail sentence late yesterday afternoon by the jury, on a charge of petit larceny, will probably file a motion for a new trial, and did not begin his jail sentence, but is out on his original bond.

Johnson was found guilty of putting 82 pounds of rocks in a wagon to make it weigh heavier, and when eight head of hogs were weighed without the rocks, Arthur Messick was alleged to have been cheated out of 82 pounds of pork on foot.

David A. Ricks today filed a complaint in court against Arthur B. Hall, an action to dissolve partnership, and for an accounting and for the appointment of a receiver.

Ricks alleges that Hall and he were engaged in business under the style of Ricks and Hall, for the purpose of general farming in Rush and Henry counties, and for the purpose of dealing in live stock.

The plaintiff charges the defendant with failing to keep his part of the partnership agreement, and that he failed to bank the money of the firm, but confiscated it for his own use, and put in on his own account in the bank. The plaintiff asks for an accounting, as the defendant can't straighten out the books. A receiver is asked also to take charge and manage the affair.

Charles H. Woods has brought suit against James B. Hall, on an account in which $150 is demanded. The complaint states that Woods was hired as a farm worker by Hall, and that there is money due him, which has not been paid for farm services rendered.

GOODRICH SAYS A FAREWELL WORD

Retiring Governor Reviews His Administration Achievements at Opening of Legislature

MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS

Urges Power to Increase Salaries of
County Officials be Vested in
Commissioners

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Governor James P. Goodrich delivered his farewell message to the seventy-second general assembly of Indiana, shortly after that body convened for a sixty day session.

Speaking before a joint session of the house and senate in the house chamber, the governor reviewed his administration with pride in its accomplishments and many recommendations for legislative action.

For the first time in history an Indiana Governor addressed his message to "Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly." Mrs. Julia D. Nelson of Muncie, was in her seat as a representative from Delaware county. She was the first woman ever elected to an Indiana legislature.

The governor made these recommendations among others:—

That improvements be made at the state benevolent and correctional institutions, increasing the capacity of the state institutions for the insane at least 1,500.

That automobile license rates be increased and the proceeds be applied to the maintenance of roads and that the possibility of a tax on gasoline consumed be investigated.

That the power to increase salaries of the county officials be vested in the county commissioners and the county councils rather than be attempted by the legislature.

That the state highway levy be appellate jurisdiction over local bond issues instead of being shorn of all bond issue jurisdiction as it was under the Johnson "home rule" act.

That the state highway levy be increased so that with automobile license fees added, 400 miles of roadway may be improved each year.

That the "blue sky" law be amended as to be made effective.

That the cities be given the power to hold referendums on the installation of the city managers or commission form of government.

"I am perfectly willing that every official act of mine shall be judged in the light of and according to the public good."

BALLOONISTS LAND SAFELY AT JAMES BAY

Indian Runner Brings Word to Mat-
tice, Ontario That Missing Aero-
nauts Will Arrive Soon

TRAIL IN GOOD CONDITION

(By United Press)

Mattice, Ontario, Jan. 6.—The first real thrill for this little town came today with the arrival of an Indian carrier announcing that the United States navy aeronauts had landed safely near James Bay.

The Indian stated that the bay was frozen over and that he came ahead of the outfit he was helping transport. The Indian stated that the party will reach here in a few days and that the trail for the Americans will be a helpful condition as the snow is frozen hard which will make travelling rapid and they will be able to walk without snow shoes.

According to the Indian, only one "carry all" was included in the conveyance of the Americans. This "carry all" will permit one man at a time to ride and rest while the others walk. He added that it was impossible to bundle a man up in blankets and keep warm with artificial heat on this trail and that the travellers have to keep themselves warm by running and walking only except when camping at night.

ADMINISTRATION IS VICTORIOUS

John McClure Supported by Governor-Elect McCray, Wins Speaker-
ship Wednesday Night

ELECTED ON SECOND BALLOT

Senator Oscar Ratts of Paoli Selected at Republican Caucus as President Pro-tem

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Forces of Governor elect McCray were considered definitely in control of the 72nd general assembly as that body convened in regular session here today.

The republican caucus action by both the house and senate late last night swept the governor's choice into the speakership chair of the house of representatives and made an administration man president pro tem of the senate.

John McClure, lawyer of Anderson became speaker of the house, defeating Representative Jacob Miltenberger on the second ballot, 47 to 30.

Senator Ratts, of Paoli was elected president pro tem of the senate on the second ballot, having 22 votes—one more than was necessary.

The bitterness which marked the fight for the speakership was noticeably lacking in the race for president pro tem.

The governor-elect who assumes office next Monday, expresses pleasure at the election of McClure. He added that "as I am actually pleased over the election of Judge McClure, I do not announce pleasure over the defeat of his opponent."

Joseph Cravens, of Madison, was chosen by the senate democratic leaders to be minority leader in the senate and R. W. Brown of Mt. Vernon was elected minority leader of the house.

Formal election of speaker and the president pro tem was held this morning immediately after the convening of the seventy-third regular session of the Indiana General Assembly.

Though the vote was divided among three candidates, Representative McClure lacked only two votes on the first ballot of the required forty-five.

The vote on the second and deciding ballot was as follows:

McClure—47.
Miltenberger—30.
Givan—10.

The first ballot had shown the following count: McClure, 43; Miltenberger, 32; Givan 12. Eighty-seven of the eighty-nine Republican members were present. Representative McClure was elected speaker.

PENROSE CHANGES THE FRONT TARIFF

Chairman of Senate Finance Committee Comes Out For Bill and
Makes Its Passage Certain

PREVIOUSLY OPPOSED IT

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 6.—Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, today abandoned his opposition to the Fordney emergency tariff bill and announced he would support it and push its passage at the present session of congress.

Penrose's announcement changes the aspect of the tariff and taxation situation on which hearings began today before the senate finance committee and house ways and means committee. Penrose has been the only republican member of the finance committee to oppose the emergency tariff and his co-operation with the democrats prevented passage of the measure. Now its enactment is deemed certain despite the attacks of the opponents who say it will cause increased food prices.

Penrose said he would like to see new rates in effect and expressed the hope that the others would agree to this. He joined with the other supporters of the tariff bill in saying the prohibitive duties of the bill are necessary to save the farmers of the west.

HOOVER MAY BE EXCLUDED

Opposition to His Being Put in
Harding's Cabinet is Strong

(By United Press)

Marion, Ohio., Jan. 6.—Powerful political enemies may succeed in keeping Herbert Hoover out of Harding's cabinet, according to word given out here today. Hoover has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the labor post, but activities among political opponents have recently been so strong as to cause serious doubt in the mind of Harding about appointing him. Harding has held the food administrator in high regard and thought him to be the best man proposed for the cabinet.

The opposition of Senator Penrose and Senator Hiram Johnson, old guard leader, and the other leader of the progressives, is powerful. In addition there is strong opposition from farmers who are still wrangling over the price fixing activities of the food administration during the war.

SAVINGS PLAN FOR 1921 IS OUTLINED

Rushville Postoffice Receives Information Regarding Treasury Savings System

NEW CERTIFICATES ISSUED

Few Changes in Plan Followed in
1920—Partial Supply of War
Savings Stamps Here

Postmaster G. P. Hunt has received circulars announcing the issue of the 1921 treasury savings securities which will be on sale at the postoffice during the year. He has also received a partial supply of war savings stamps and the new $1 bonds. The Treasury department has adopted several plans to encourage saving and thrift for the benefit of both large and small investors. At the same time the department is urging that money be put into certificates and stamps as it helps to provide immediate cash for the government.

There are few changes in the savings system this year with the exception of the Treasury certificates. The 1921 securities consist of the twenty-five-cent Thrift stamp which bears no interest and is used to evidence payments on account of War Savings stamps and Treasury Savings certificates; the $5 War Savings stamp and the registered Treasury Savings certificates in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 (maturity value).

As in previous years, the issue price of War Savings stamp is $4.12 in January and increases 1 cent a month to $4.23 in December.

This issue price of the $25 certificate is $20.60 in January, and increases at the rate of 5 cents a month to $21.15 in December, and the issue price of the $100 certificate is $82.40 in January and increases at the rate of 20 cents a month to $84.60 in December. The $1,000 certificate will be sold for $824 in January and the price increases at the rate of $2 a month to $846 in December.

The 1921 securities are substantially the same in terms and conditions as those of the 1920 issue, with the addition of the Treasury Savings stamp and the $25 Treasury Savings certificates. The $1 Treasury Savings stamp is bright red in color, imprinted on a green tint, and bears the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury. It is intended primarily for accumulation on Treasury Savings cards in lots of twenty stamps, on account of the purchase price of a $25 Treasury Savings certificate.

As in 1920, War Savings certificates of the 1921 series bearing the necessary complement of the War Savings stamps may be exchanged for registered Treasury Savings certificate, series of 1921, in the $25, $100 and $1,000 denominations. Provision also is made for the exchange during 1921 of War Savings certificate of the 1918, 1919 and 1920 series for Treasury Savings stamps.

Retired Newspaper Publisher Expires at His Home Here This
Morning While Sitting in Chair

HEART TROUBLE THE CAUSE

Began Printing Business in Office
Owned by Conde and Shumm
—Later Published Jacksonian

William E. Wallace, age 69 years, a life long resident of this city, died suddenly this morning shortly after eleven o'clock at his home, 424 North Perkins street, death being caused from heart trouble.

Mr. Wallace was a pioneer newspaper man of this city, and was an active worker in the democratic party organization. He was born here on August 29, 1851, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace, his father also having engaged in the newspaper business here. Both parents have since expired.

The deceased began business here in the printing office then owned by Conde and Shumm. In December, 1872, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Conde commenced the publication of the Jacksonian. The late George Puntenney and Mr. Wallace very successfully published this newspaper for a great number of years, but in recent years Mr. Wallace was not interested in any newspaper.

Mr. Wallace was married twice, first to Clara E. Miner, who died in 1884, and Lizzie E. Moffitt, who survives. Four children survive, two by the former wife, Mrs. Ralph Payne of this city and Lev Wallace of Detroit and two by the surviving widow, Miss Gladys Wallace of this city and Maxwell Wallace, who is in the government service at Fort Riley, Kan. Mrs. Fanny Holloway of Laurence, Kansas, a sister, and one brother, John Wallace of this city, also survive.

Mr. Wallace had frequent attacks of heart trouble, and spent a restless night. He came to his death sitting in a chair at his home.

Mr. Wallace was a member of the First Presbyterian church and for many years took an active part.

No funeral arrangements have been made yet, owing to the distance of some of the relatives.

MANY PEOPLE VICTIMS OF FAKE CHARTIY PLAN

Well Known Woman in Rushville
Asks For Donations by Phone
and Uses Them Herself

CAUGHT IN TRAP; NOT ACCUSED

Quite a few people of Rushville have been the victims of a novel scheme used by a certain woman in Rushville, who pretends to be some one else, and in a telephone conversation asks for donations for a "needy family" in the west part of the city. This plan worked successfully on several women in North Main street, and anyone asking for donations should investigate it thoroughly before giving food or money.

This woman, as the plan is explained called up another woman and said that the family was in need of food and money and the North Main Street person consented to donate 50 cents. The supposed "charity worker" told them to leave the money at a certain store. Others who were approached gave potatoes and food.

Store keepers became suspicious when the woman, who is a well known character, called for the different things, and a trap was laid, in which she was caught, but nothing has been done with her, and other people, when requested to donate, should be on their guard, and be certain who will be benefited by the charity.

Sentative James E. Southard of Michigan City and Representative Henry L. Hamrichouse, of Plymouth were absent.

Governor-elect McCray made the following statement regarding the election of McClure as speaker.

"I naturally am pleased over the election of Judge McClure as speaker of the House, but I have no elation because of the defeat of his opponents.

"As the titular head of the state's government I realize that I will be held responsible for the acts of the administration. Sincere in my desire for a most efficient and successful administration of the state's affairs, I made known my choice for the speakership only after most deliberate and painstaking consideration of the attributes and experiences involved.

"At no time did I attempt in any way to dictate to any member how he should vote, nor did I insist on any one voting against his pledge or his own best judgment.

"The defeated candidates have my best wishes and assurances that their sphere of usefulness in the coming session will now be lessened or circumscribed by the fact that there has been a contest."

Following his selection, Representative McClure received the congratulations and best wishes of both of his opponents. The contest, while it had been extremely spirited, ended in expressions of friendliness and pledges of support to the victor.

"I know that I made a good race," said Representative Miltenberger of Muncie following the caucus. "I'm feeling fine and am ready to do my part in the work of the session to come. I have already congratulated the Speaker."

Representative Miltenberger, while the Governor-elect favored another candidate, did not take an anti-administration attitude. It was a compliment to him personally that he received as many votes as he did. His strength came largely from members who had served with him in the last two sessions. Representative Givan's vote was limited almost to Marion county members.

OIL DISCOVERED IN WILD REGION

South American District Flanked on One Side by Mountains and on Other By Unexplored Land

HARD PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Gran Chaco Which Has Resisted White Man From Pizzaro's Day to This Must be Forced to Yield

Washington, Jan. 6.—The new South American oil field is bringing gray hairs to a group of U. S. engineers. Geologists believe they have discovered oil in a Bolivian district which is flanked on one side by mountains three miles high and on the other by an unexplored land, inhabited by savage Indians. There are several million acres of American concession in this remote Bolivian field. They are wasted unless the engineers can outwit the Andes mountains, or the Gran Chaco.

The Gran Chaco is a wild region to the east of the La Paz district of Bolivia, where the new oil field has been found. A white man crossed it once, they say. But he died in 1550. He was one of the Spanish Conquistadores. Other venturesome gentlemen have attempted the journey since, but the Indians got 'em. The Andes bulk from 15,000 to 17,000 feet high, to the west of the field, cutting off access to the Pacific Ocean. No railroads cross the range in this region. Tunnels are impossible. But the world needs oil, and American "oil hounds" are on the job, and that, it is said here, means that the Gran Chaco, which has resisted the white man from Pizzaro's day to this, must now be forced to yield.

A 500-mile pipe line across a neck of the Gran Chaco would carry oil from the La Paz field to a point on the Panama River, and from there it could be tanked to the South American Atlantic seaboard. U. S. government field men who have recently returned from this territory say a small army would be needed to fight the Indians while laying the pipe line through their territory and that a constant guard would be necessary along its entire length to prevent its destruction.

Other parts of the new South American oil field offer fewer transportation difficulties, but none, it was said here, have more promising indications of yield than the Bolivian district.

U. S. Government trade representatives, after a year's survey of the territory, expressed the belief that an oil field great in area, but as yet of unknown production, extends the length of South America just east of the Andes. Explorers of a dozen countries are scurrying the length and breadth of this region, with American companies easily in the lead, both in the number of parties in the field and in the amount of acreage for which concessions have been obtained.

Great reticence and secrecy have been maintained by American oil interests about their South American prospects and accomplishments. Government reports here indicate, however, that American concessions are so extensively scattered through every possible field in South America that wherever the "big gush" comes, oil men from this country will probably be in a position to control the largest acreage of any foreign group.

All South American countries are chary of permitting outright sale to foreigners of oil land rights, according to information here. Concessions permit the holder, under governmental regulations, including a tax of a percentage of production, only to lease the land for a prescribed number of years with rights of lease-renewal.

MANY STARVING IN CENTRAL EUROPE

Famine, Cold and Disease Are Decimating Once Happy Populations At Rate of Thousand a Day

HAVE STARVATION DROPSY

Vienna Formerly a Luxurious City is Today in State of Miserable Pauperization and Dying Rapidly

By LLOYD ALLEN (U. P. Staff Correspondent) (London (By Mail).—Central Europe is in the midst of its blackest winter in history. Famine, cold and disease are decimating once happy populations at the rate of hundreds sometimes thousands per day.

Millions are starving slowly. Their appearance is horrible to behold. They are not drying up into skeletons, like the famine victims of India and Armenia. These Polish Russian and Austrian sufferers have "starvation dropsy." It is brought about by almost complete absence of albuminous elements and fats in food and the eating of unusual quantities of vegetables—grass even—after which these hordes marked for death drink enormous quantities of water. A terrible bloat results.

In these terror-stricken lands babies are born to parents who have not a single rag of garment with which to clothe them; they are wrapped in pieces of paper and perish from cold.

To travel through Central Europe is a nauseating experience especially to an American. The memory of famine districts can never be eradicated.

It's a series of startling visits to orphanages and refuges where scores of babies—many of whom will never walk because of aggravated rickets that twist little legs into corkscrews—drag themselves about filthy corridors like stricken animals.

There are two astounding features of this heartrending picture: First, is the outward cheerfulness of suffering nations where there is still hope that next month will see an improvement in their pitiable situation. Secondly the reverence with which millions speak of America, where all dream of going and which all regard as the only "Land of Promise" left in the world. Because from America come food and funds for feeding nearly 2,000,000 children in the worst stricken lands of Poland, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Two years ago statesmen of England and France feared general Bolshevik revolutions in the hunger lands. Today this fear is practically vanished. The object lesson of starving Russia under Red rule holds forth no hope to the hungry of Poland and Austria.

Danger may exist in the form of a Red invasion engineered by the Red Rulers at Moscow; but this threat is generally considered quite remote.

Poland where the Americans are feeding 900,000 children daily, has seen further unheard of increases in the cost of living. Prices have generally increased 4,000 percent, according to official reports. Central Lithuania is almost wholly without food.

Vienna however is by long odds the screst pressed capital of Central Europe. Once the proudest most luxurious city of the continent it is today in a state of miserable pauperization, dying rapidly. Its fate, according to general prediction, is that of becoming an Entente Colony.

Today 2,000,000 Viennese are cut off from their traditional sources of food. With worthless Austrian kronen the Viennese cannot buy from the plentiful food stocks of Serbia and the provinces of Jugoslavia from where, for centuries, the Vienna people secured fats and grain. In 1914 the kronen was worth twenty cents in American money. Today one kronen is worth a quarter of a cent.

Strange diseases have made their appearance in this once gay capital of the Hapsburgs. Hundreds suffer from brittle bones, which break at the slightest jar. Thousands have irritated ulcerated stomachs from eating vegetables—especially cabbage—and can digest only the most nutritious foods such as milk and wheat bread, both commodities beyond the reach of any except the ultra-rich.

Strangely enough in this chancel house of Vienna; where the ashes of Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Johannes, Brahms and Johannes Strauss are buried, the musical tradition has not been starved out—though it seems only a question of a few more months before the endurance of the big musical colony is finished—the works of these great composers are still played in heatless opera houses.

And Lehar, whose "Merry Widow" delighted all America, has produced another wonderful operetta "The Blue Mazur" which is even more melodious, dreamy and wistful than the "Merry Widow."

to my pledge", the governor said in conclusion.

"We have dare to do in some instances what may have appeared to some to be impolite, when the easier way would have been to have done nothing at all, but we have acted solely in behalf of the people of the state, have been guided by a determination and a high purpose to serve them.

"As I look back over the record of the past four years, I would not, had I the power to do so, change it in any important particular. I am content with the things accomplished. My only regret is that I have not been able to do more for the people of the state who entrusted me with the governorship."

Governor Goodrich retires Monday in favor of Warren T. McCray of Kentland, his successor. Shortly after his inauguration, McCray will also address the legislature, recommending legislation which he thinks should be enacted.

The governor discussed a possible reorganization of the state government, saying:

"In the not distant future, Indiana and the various functions of such government, believe in a simplified form of state government. Elective offices, the duties of which for the most part are administration, should be abolished. A large number of state boards should be eliminated and the various functions of such officers and boards should be consolidated in a few departments, which are responsible to the chief executive.

"It is my frank opinion that more and better service can be rendered and that the public will more effectively control their own affairs if the executive and the administrative functions of our state government are centered in the governor and in the state departments responsible to him than can ever be possible with the present division of authority."

certificates of the same series at federal reserve banks and the treasury, department, exchanges of registered certificates to be made through the postoffice of registration.

Owners of War Savings certificates who desire the protection of registration are urged by the treasury to exchange their War Savings certificate for a Treasury Savings certificate, rather than to seek registration on the War Savings certificate at a postoffice. In addition to its other advantages the Treasury Savings certificate gives the benefit of central registration at the treasury and provision for direct payment by the treasury. The latter provision will facilitate payment in case of change of residence since a registered War Savings certificate can be redeemed only at the postoffice at which it was registered.

The new Treasury Savings securities offered for 1921 supply a $1 unit for saving and a registered government security in the $25 denomination which can be conveniently bought through the accumulation of the $1 Treasury Savings stamps. More important still, the new securities complete a most attractive line of government savings securities, the $1 stamp and the $25, $100 and $1,000 registered Treasury Savings certificates, and thus place the Treasury Savings movement on a solid peace-time basis.

The Indiana Legislature

The selection of John F. McClure at the caucus of house republicans in Indianapolis Wednesday night for the speakership indicates that Governor-elect McCray has things well in hand and that under his guidance the session of the general assembly should be smooth-running and should accomplish something noteworthy.

Some efforts has been made to stir up dissention over the speakership contest, but the outcome of the caucus makes it manifest that harmony will be the watchword of the session.

Governor Goodrich made some suggestions in his address today which are worthy of consideration by the legislature, but the assemblymen are not so much interested in

Legislators Find No Rules Against Chewing, But Smoking Is Abandoned

Senators and Representatives Are All "Lined Up" When the Assembly Opens and Refreshments Are Available in the Corridors. Cuspidors Provided For the Chewers But There Is No Smoking During Working Hours.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—The big show is on!

Under the gaze of a sideline full of spectators and lobbyists, 50 state senators and one hundred representatives took their seats in the legislative chambers today for a 60 day "stand."

Outside in the corridor, the refreshment counter was going full blast. It has candy and chewing gum for the "sweet tooth, oranges and apples for the hungry, pop and other beverages for the thirsty and cigars and chewing tobacco for users of the weed. Business was thriving although war time prices still prevailed.

During the working hours of the house and senate, the members are not permitted to smoke under a standing rule. But there is a cuspidor at each desk and there is no rule against chewing tobacco. Consequently, many engage in this pastime. The practice is not confined to the lesser lights, such leaders as Senator James J. Neidl, Lake county indulging. Ex-Senator George Laney, democrat, of Parke county, always used to loose a mouthful, altobacco juice before asking recognition by the president officer.

Even after the session's progress in to the closing weeks, some members absent mindedly address the presiding officer by other than prescribed titles. The speaker of the house is commonly addressed by members as "Mr. Speaker" and the Lieutenant governor as head of the senate is usually designated "Mr. President" by legislators seeking recognition. The lawyer members, however, frequently revert to court terms and say "Your honor" as though they were addressing a judge. Other members accustomed to attending public meetings frequently say "Mr. Chairman."

his recommendations as those which will be made by the incoming governor next Monday. On Governor-elect McCray falls the responsibility for carrying out the platform pledges of his party and very naturally his words will be analyzed more carefully.

Although the outgoing governor has been very much criticized, his administration has been characterized by several worthy achievements, not the least of which was the tax law. This measure has been misrepresented and its administration resulted in placing it in bad repute with the people. But the future will prove that it is one of the best pieces of legislation enacted in Indiana in many years.

When We All Fly

One of the great wonders of all ages is the development of aerial navigation.

A few days ago a mail plane, carrying its pilot and four hundred pounds of fast mail, traveled the distance from Chicago to New York in five hours and thirty-one minutes. By air line the two cities are 742 miles apart.

From Cleveland to New York the average rate of speed was 151 miles an hour.

It appears now that there is but one great obstacle to the universal use of the airplane for passenger and traffic purposes. That is the certainty of instant death in case it becomes disabled and falls to earth.

But doubtless some day science will overcome this obstacle. A means will eventually be found whereby the airplane will no longer be heavier than air, thus rendering it possible to hold it suspended between earth and sky.

When that day comes every citizen of any means will want his plane.

There is no limit to the possibilities of the airplane.

And there is little doubt as to the

Can Guessing Win?

Between the prices paid to the producer and by the consumer there is a staggering difference.

There is one way to assure both farmer and consumer a fair price for food—that is through careful Farm Cost Accounting. The Farm Bureaus are instituting a national campaign to hurry the Government investigation of the costs of actual food production and distribution. Once the whole problem has been carefully and publicly sifted, it will be possible to put prices on a basis of justice to both producer and consumer and to eliminate the unreasonable unearned profits that are made "in the dark."

Every farmer owes it to himself to further the cause by lending his individual support to the work of the Farm Bureau. There's only one sensible way to run the race for fair profits. Leave in the stable the willing but crippled mule, Farm Cost Guessing, and make the running on the thoroughbred, Farm Cost Accounting. It's the only way to win.

This conclusion is not a snap judgment by THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, but the result of careful study. Our editors and investigators travel 300,000 miles a year to study farm problems and to report the best farm opinions of the country. We voice the honest opinions of the American farmer. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains famous fiction, striking pictures, great cartoons, and lots of smiles—it comes 52 times in a year—but perhaps it is most appreciated for its practical helpfulness. EM-ROES COP ONE

Fairmount, Ind., Jan. 6—Before the largest crowd of the season here the Em-Roes outpassed and outshot the local independents here last night and won, 29 to 21. The Em-Roes overcame Fairmount's 12 to 11 lead at the end of the first half soon after the second half started and were never headed the rest of the way.

ARLINGTON TEAM LOST

The Arlington Athletic Club lost last night to the Connersville American Legion team at Connersville by the score of 35 to 28. HIGH SCHOOL FIVE HAS TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

Rushville Varsity Will Meet Liberty
Here Friday Night and Fort-ville Saturday Night

BROWNSVILLE IN PRELIMINARY

The Rushville high school basketball team has two games here this week, meeting the Liberty team on Friday night, and on Saturday night the Fortville team will come here for a game.

Rushville had little trouble last Friday night in defeating Liberty on their own floor, and the local team will take things easy, in order to be in good shape for the Fortville game.

Brownsville will also come here Friday night to meet the second team from the local high school, and this game should be a thriller as Rushville was beaten last Friday night by three points by Brownsville on the Liberty floor.

Liberty will remain over Friday night and on Saturday night will be the attraction at Fairview. On Friday night the Morristown high will meet the Milroy high, at Milroy and a good game is expected as it will be the first time these teams have met this year.

LOCAL K. OF C. QUINTET WINS

Defeats Greensburg Wednesday
Night in First Game of Season

The Rushville K. of C. basketball team chalked up a victory last night in the opening game of their season, when they went to Greensburg, and returned with the big end of a 22 to 7 count. The local team started the game with Myers and Byrne forwards; Caron at center; Doll and Carroll at guards. Moorman was substituted for Myers and McCoy went in for Caron, before the game was ended. The game was fast, with the local team having the better of the deal, all the way through. The St. Mary's school team of this city lost to the Catholic school team of Greensburg by the score of 13 to 7.

Return games will be played in Rushville in the near future, and other teams will be booked by the local K. of C. team.

The Solution of Your Health Problems

The Health Problem is as old as the hills. For centuries men and women have been endeavoring to solve it. Drugs, Osteopathy, Electricity, Surgery have all been tried and found of little avail because they have paid too much attention to the effect and have neglected the cause. Chiropractic has solved the problem. This Science, as practiced by competent Chiropractors, ascertains the Cause and proceeds at once to adjust it. Once the Cause is taken care of, the trouble disappears, Nature gets in her work and Health is the result. Thousands of men and women all over the country have reason to bless the day that Chiropractic was discovered.

WIVES OF HOOSIER SOLONS HONORED BY SELECTIONS

Mrs. James E. Watson on Committee Appointed to Present Memorial Statue in Honor of Pioneer Suffragists to United States

Washington, Jan. 6—Mrs. James E. Watson and Mrs. Harry S. New, wives of the Indiana senators, have accepted membership on the presentation committee of the National Woman's party. This is the committee which will have charge of the presentation to the United States of a memorial statue in honor of pioneer suffragists. The statue is being made in Italy by an American sculptress, Mrs. Adelaide Johnson, and will be brought here in time for presentation to Congress and installation in the rotunda of the Capitol in February.

The presentation committee will also include Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, who will preside over the memorial ceremonies; Miss Mary Anderson, director of the woman's bureau of the Department of Labor; the Rev. Olympia Brown, one of the first women preachers; Mrs. Inez Haynes Irwin of New York, well known writer; Mrs. Grace Strachan Forsythe of New York, president of the Interborough Association of Women Teachers; Miss Annie W. Goodrich, director of nurses at the Henry Street settlement, New York; Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, first congresswoman; Miss Mary E. Woolley of Massachusetts, president of Mt. Holyoke college; Mrs. O. P. H. Belmonth of New York, and Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer of New York. The ceremony to accompany the gift of this first national woman's memorial to the capitol, will be a beautiful and impressive spectacle. Miss Hazel Mackaye, director of the memorial ceremonies, and Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest, chairman of the committee on arrangements are at work on the planning and directing of a ceremony which will form a fitting tribute by women to those suffrage pioneers.

Representatives of every state, almost every profession, every large organization of women in the country, and of foreign women, will all present their tribute before the memorial, as the climax of a long processional.

"The Store that Does Things"

A Big Spot Cash Purchase Recently Consumed Enables us to Offer Stylish Dresses

at Extraordinarily Low Prices

A dress manufacturer, whose name we are not permitted to mention, was more heavily stocked with his product than his capital permitted. We made him a cash offer that was considerably less than his legitimate price, and he immediately accepted it. Thus we can offer you most extraordinary savings on dresses that would be difficult to duplicate were they not bought at a great price concession. We have marked every dress at our regular policy of narrow-profit margin, giving every woman the benefit of the big savings we made.

What A Dollar Buys

What a dollar will not buy has been uppermost in the public mind for the last five years. Now we ask that by-gones be by-gones and that you turn from the negative view to the positive and consider what a dollar will actually buy. Study our advertising, it is the newspaper of this store. Compare prices with prewar prices and rejoice with us in the return of the one hundred cents' buying power of today's dollar.

Yours truly

C-R-A-S-H! Go PRICES!

Promptly at 9:01 A. M. on Friday, January 7th, Shustre & Epstein will open their doors on the greatest single sale of Shoes, Clothing and Furnishings in our entire business life—which means, WITHOUT QUESTION, one of the most notable sales it has ever been your privilege to attend. THIS SALE IS PLANNED TO SELL GOODS — Not to make money, but to raise money.

The man who does not take advantage of this sale of clothing is slamming the door in front of opportunity. Furthermore to refrain from buying when needs can be filled to your profit may be the worst sort of self injury—for by public buying alone can the wheels of business be speeded up and an enormous increase of unemployment resulting from many industries coming to a standstill, be prevented.

AMUSEMENTS

Feature Here Two Days

Charting a complete street carnival company, including every animal, tent and person connected with the organization, forms an interesting chapter of the production history of "Something To Think About" which will be shown at the Princess Theatre today and tomorrow. Cecil B. De Mille, producer of this unusual Paramount screen drama, wished to establish in the mind of his central feminine character the difference between two men—the youthful and virile; the other older and crippled.

With this object in mind, he selected a day at a typical country fair, as the time and place. The two men, the girl and her father comprise one group of visitors.

But it was first necessary to duplicate the country fair in question. This difficulty was solved by leasing a traveling street carnival company for a period of one week and adding to this background half a thousand "extra people".

The carnival included the usual fat lady, the snake charmer, fire-eater, hula hula dancers and other freaks and strangely talented performers. All entered into the spirit of the picture and lent to the episode a striking note of realism.

A New Western Play

That popular idol of the screen, William Farnum, is coming to the Mystic Theatre tomorrow in his latest William Fox production, "The Orphan", a stirring story of the West, written by Clarence E. Mulford.

In "The Orphan" Mr. Farnum has

one of the most powerful roles of his career, according to advance reports. He is cast as an outlaw hated and feared more violently by the cowpunchers than anyone known to the little town of Ford's Station. It is said that Mr. Farnum puts tremendous dash, vigor and fire into this powerful story of the days of bandits and Indians and stagecoach holdups.

Mr. Farnum appears as The Orphan, a victim of misfortune and circumstance, who has been accused of committing numerous crimes, the worst of which were not of his doing. How he gains the friendship of the Sheriff—who has gone out to capture him—and subsequently makes a new start in life after winning the love of a beautiful girl, is told in the development of a plot which, it is declared, never has been surpassed by any in which Farnum has figured on the screen.

O'NEIL RECOVERS STOLEN CLOTHING

Two Indianapolis Men in Jail For
Stealing Automobiles, Also
Give Over The Loot

CLOTHES VALUED AT $100

Found in a Trunk at One of The
Men's Home—Insurance Company Keeps The Auto

Robes and overcoats, amounting to $100, were recovered yesterday in Indianapolis by Carl O'Neil, Rushville man whose new automobile was stolen in that city on October 3, and which was recovered by detectives after two men had confessed to taking the machine.

The two men, Merl Horton and Nicholas Lavelle, owners of a garage in East Washington street, are in jail, after detectives found Horton riding in O'Neil's automobile, and when accused, he implicated Lavelle and eleven machines which they had taken from the streets of Indianapolis, were found in their garage.

Mr. O'Neil was notified Tuesday that his machine was recovered, and he went to Indianapolis yesterday afternoon to establish its identity. The machine was only three weeks old when it was stolen, and was an Overland touring car.

Mr. O'Neil stated that it had been dismantled and the engine number completely changed. His only sure means of identifying it was by a serial number concealed under a spring, which the two men had overlooked.

Mr. O'Neil carried insurance on the machine and he has long since been paid in full and the machine was consigned to the insurance company yesterday. His main purpose in going to Indianapolis was to locate the wraps left in the machine, when it was stolen.

The two prisoners at first denied knowing about the coats and robes, and an investigation followed at the home of Lavelle, Washington Apartments, 19 Oriental street. Hidden in a trunk were overcoats belonging to Mr. O'Neil and his brother Henry, and a new coat belonging to Mrs. Carl O'Neil. Mrs. Henry O'Neil had an opera robe which was stolen, and this also was recovered.

Mrs. Lavelle wife of the prisoner, stated that Horton kept an Indian blanket as his part of the loot, and that she wanted it badly, so she traded him a pair of silk underwear for the blanket. She also produced this blanket. A wrench and a hammer, the property of Mr. O'Neil, also was found in the machine, which was another means of identifying it.

The clothing had, evidently not been used as it was in good condition. Mrs. Lavelle stated that she formerly was a actress, and the clothes were found in a trunk which she used while "on the road."

SEES CONSPIRACY TO BOOST COST OF HOMES

Sen. Calder of New York, Chairman
of Reconstruction Committee,
Says Report Will Prove It

URGES LICENSING AS CURE

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 6.—A nation wide conspiracy to boost prices for reconstruction of homes has been unearthed by the senate committee on reconstruction, Senator Calder, New York, chairman of the committee, said in an interview today.

This conspiracy, Calder said, will be fully explained by the senate committee when it reports the result of the investigation to the senate next week.

He said it is similar to a combination exposed by the Lockwood committee in New York.

Calder also said he was considering introducing a bill requiring manufacturers and labor organizations to obtain a federal charter. This would in effect be federal licensing and such organizations will be forced to make a report of their activities to the government.

Osborne With Pacific Fleet

When the Pacific fleet left San Francisco to join the Atlantic fleet in Panama bay for a cruise to South American waters, on some of the battleships, destroyers and cruisers were three Rushville boys.

The trio of local youths who have been looking forward to the trip are Frank Muire, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Muire; Archey Roam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Roam, and Clyde Osborne, son of Mrs. Lillian Osborne. All of them have served previous enlistments in the navy. Muire and Roam re-enlisted while in Rushville last November, for service with the Pacific fleet in order to go on the South American cruise. The Atlantic fleet left last night to join the Pacific fleet at Panama.

JOHNSON MAY ASK FOR A NEW TRIAL

Farmer Accused of Weighing Rock
to Defraud in Hog Purchase Fined
$50 and Given Ten Days

IS OUT ON ORIGINAL BOND

David A. Ricks Sues Arthur B.
Hall for Receivership—J. B. Hall
Defendant in Account Suit

John W. Johnson, farmer of northern Rush county, who was found guilty and fined $50 and given a ten day jail sentence late yesterday afternoon by the jury, on a charge of petit larceny, will probably file a motion for a new trial, and did not begin his jail sentence, but is out on his original bond.

Johnson was found guilty of putting 82 pounds of rocks in a wagon to make it weigh heavier, and when eight head of hogs were weighed without the rocks, Arthur Messick was alleged to have been cheated out of 82 pounds of pork on foot.

David A. Ricks today filed a complaint in court against Arthur B. Hall, an action to dissolve partnership, and for an accounting and for the appointment of a receiver.

Ricks alleges that Hall and he were engaged in business under the style of Ricks and Hall, for the purpose of general farming in Rush and Henry counties, and for the purpose of dealing in live stock.

The plaintiff charges the defendant with failing to keep his part of the partnership agreement, and that he failed to bank the money of the firm, but confiscated it for his own use, and put in on his own account in the bank. The plaintiff asks for an accounting, as the defendant can't straighten out the books. A receiver is asked also to take charge and manage the affair.

Charles H. Woods has brought suit against James B. Hall, on an account in which $150 is demanded. The complaint states that Woods was hired as a farm worker by Hall, and that there is money due him, which has not been paid for farm services rendered.

GOODRICH SAYS A FAREWELL WORD

Retiring Governor Reviews His Administration Achievements at Op-

MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS

Urges Power to Increase Salaries of
County Officials be Vested in
Commissioners

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Governor James P. Goodrich delivered his farewell message to the seventy-second general assembly of Indiana, shortly after that body convened for a sixty day session.

Speaking before a joint session of the house and senate in the house chamber, the governor reviewed his administration with pride in its accomplishments and many recommendations for legislative action.

For the first time in history an Indiana Governor addressed his message to "Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly," Mrs. Julia D. Nelson of Muncie, was in her seat as a representative from Delaware county. She was the first woman ever elected to an Indiana legislature.

The governor made these recommendations among others:—

That improvements be made at the state benevolent and correctional institutions, increasing the capacity of the state institutions for the insane at least 1,500.

That automobile license rates be increased and the proceeds be applied to the maintenance of roads and that the possibility of a tax on gasoline consumed be investigated.

That the power to increase salaries of the county officials be vested in the county commissioners and the county councils rather than be attempted by the legislature.

That the state highway levy be appellate jurisdiction over local bond issues instead of being shorn of all bond issue jurisdiction as it was under the Johnson "home rule" act.

That the state highway levy be increased so that with automobile license fees added, 400 miles of roadway may be improved each year.

That the "blue sky" law be amended as to be made effective.

That the cities be given the power to hold referendums on the installation of the city managers or commission form of government.

BALLOONISTS LAND SAFELY AT JAMES BAY

Indian Runner Brings Word to Mat-
tice, Ontario That Missing Aero-
nauts Will Arrive Soon

TRAIL IN GOOD CONDITION

(By United Press)
Mattice, Ontario, Jan. 6.—The first real thrill for this little town came today with the arrival of an Indian carrier announcing that the United States navy aeronauts had landed safely near James Bay.

The Indian stated that the bay was frozen over and that he came ahead of the outfit he was helping transport. The Indian stated that the party will reach here in a few days and that the trail for the Americans will be a helpful condition as the snow is frozen hard which will make travelling rapid and they will be able to walk without snow shoes.

According to the Indian, only one "carry-all" was included in the conveyance of the Americans. This "carry-all" will permit one man at a time to ride and rest while the others walk. He added that it was impossible to bundle a man up in blankets and keep warm with artificial heat on this trail and that the travellers have to keep themselves warm by running and walking only except when camping at night.

ADMINISTRATION IS VICTORIOUS

John McClure Supported by Governor-Elect McCray, Wins Speaker-
ship Wednesday Night

ELECTED ON SECOND BALLOT

Senator Oscar Ratts of Paoli Selected at Republican Caucus as President Pro-tem

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Forces of Governor elect McCray were considered definitely in control of the 72nd general assembly as that body convened in regular session here today.

The republican caucus action by both the house and senate late last night swept the governor's choice into the speakership chair of the house of representatives and made an administration man president pro tem of the senate.

John McClure, lawyer of Anderson became speaker of the house, defeating Representative Jacob Miltenberger on the second ballot, 47 to 30.

Senator Ratts, of Paoli was elected president pro tem of the senate on the second ballot, having 22 votes—one more than was necessary.

The bitterness which marked the fight for the speakership was noticeably lacking in the race for president pro tem.

The governor-elect, who assumes office next Monday, expresses pleasure at the election of McClure. He added that "as I am actually pleased over the election of Judge McClure, I do not announce pleasure over the defeat of his opponent."

Joseph Gravens, of Madison, was chosen by the senate democratic leaders to be minority leader in the senate and R. W. Brown of Mt. Vernon was elected minority leader of the house.

Formal election of speaker and the president pro tem was held this morning immediately after the convening of the seventy-third regular session of the Indiana General Assembly.

Though the vote was divided among three candidates, Representative McClure lacked only two votes on the first ballot of the required forty-five.

The vote on the second and deciding ballot was as follows:

McClure—47.
Miltenberger—30.
Givan—10.

The first ballot had shown the following count: McClure, 43; Miltenberger, 32; Givan 12. Eighty-seven of the eighty-nine Republican members were present. Repre-

PENROSE CHANGES THE FRONT TARIFF

Chairman of Senate Finance Committee Comes Out For Bill and
Makes Its Passage Certain

PREVIOUSLY OPPOSED IT

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 6.—Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee, today abandoned his opposition to the Fordney emergency tariff bill and announced he would support it and push its passage at the present session of congress.

Penrose's announcement changes the aspect of the tariff and taxation situation on which hearings began today before the senate finance committee and house ways and means committee. Penrose has been the only republican member of the finance committee to oppose the emergency tariff and his co-operation with the democrats prevented passage of the measure. Now its enactment is deemed certain despite the attacks of the opponents who say it will cause increased food prices.

Penrose said he would like to see new rates in effect and expressed the hope that the others would agree to this. He joined with the other supporters of the tariff bill in saying the prohibitive duties of the bill are necessary to save the farmers of the west.

HOOVER MAY BE EXCLUDED

Opposition to His Being Put in
Harding's Cabinet is Strong

(By United Press)
Marion, Ohio., Jan. 6.—Powerful political enemies may succeed in keeping Herbert Hoover out of Harding's cabinet, according to word given out here today. Hoover has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the labor post, but activities among political opponents have recently been so strong as to cause serious doubt in the mind of Harding about appointing him. Harding has held the food administrator in high regard and thought him to be the best man proposed for the cabinet.

The opposition of Senator Penrose and Senator Hiram Johnson, old guard leader, and the other leader of the progressives, is powerful. In addition there is strong opposition from farmers who are still wrangling over the price fixing activities of the food administration during the war.

SAVINGS PLAN FOR 1921 IS OUTLINED

Rushville Postoffice Receives Information Regarding Treasury Savings System

NEW CERTIFICATES ISSUED

Few Changes in Plan Followed in
1920—Partial Supply of War
Savings Stamps Here

Postmaster G. P. Hunt has received circulars announcing the issue of the 1921 treasury savings securities which will be on sale at the postoffice during the year. He has also received a partial supply of war savings stamps and the new $1 bonds. The Treasury department has adopted several plans to encourage saving and thrift for the benefit of both large and small investors. At the same time the department is urging that money be put into certificates and stamps as it helps to provide immediate cash for the government.

There are few changes in the savings system this year with the exception of the Treasury certificates. The 1921 securities consist of the twenty-five-cent Thrift stamp which bears no interest and is used to evidence payments on account of War Savings stamps and Treasury Savings certificates; the $5 War Savings stamp and the registered Treasury Savings certificates in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000 (maturity value).

As in previous years, the issue price of War Savings stamp is $4.12 in January and increases 1 cent a month to $4.23 in December.

This issue price of the $25 certificate is $20.60 in January, and increases at the rate of 5 cents a month to $21.15 in December, and the issue price of the $100 certificate is $82.40 in January and increases at the rate of 20 cents a month to $84.60 in December. The $1,000 certificate will be sold for $824 in January and the price increases at the rate of $2 a month to $846 in December.

The 1921 securities are substantially the same in terms and conditions as those of the 1920 issue, with the addition of the Treasury Savings stamp and the $25 Treasury Savings certificates. The $1 Treasury Savings stamp is bright red in color, imprinted on a green tint, and bears the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, the first secretary of the treasury. It is intended primarily for accumulation on Treasury Savings cards in lots of twenty stamps, on account of the purchase price of a $25 Treasury Savings certificate.

As in 1920, War Savings certificates of the 1921 series bearing the necessary complement of the War Savings stamps may be exchanged for registered Treasury Savings certificate, series of 1921, in the $25, $100 and $1,000 denominations. Provision also is made for the exchange during 1921 of War Savings certificate of the 1918, 1919 and 1920 series for Treasury Savings stamps.

W.E. WALLACE DIES SUDDENLY

Retired Newspaper Publisher Ex-
pires at His Home Here This
Morning While Sitting in Chair

HEART TROUBLE THE CAUSE

Began Printing Business in Office
Owned by Conde and Shumm
—Later Published Jacksonian

William E. Wallace, age 69 years, a life long resident of this city, died suddenly this morning shortly after eleven o'clock at his home, 424 North Perkins street, death being caused from heart trouble.

Mr. Wallace was a pioneer newspaper man of this city, and was an active worker in the democratic party organization. He was born here on August 29, 1851, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace, his father also having engaged in the newspaper business here. Both parents have since expired.

The deceased began business here in the printing office then owned by Conde and Shumm. In December, 1872, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Conde commenced the publication of the Jacksonian. The late George Puntenney and Mr. Wallace very successfully published this newspaper for a great number of years, but in recent years Mr. Wallace was not interested in any newspaper.

Mr. Wallace was married twice, first to Clara E. Miner, who died in 1884, and Lizzie E. Moffitt, who survives. Four children survive, two by the former wife, Mrs. Ralph Payne of this city and Lev Wallace of Detroit and two by the surviving widow, Miss Gladys Wallace of this city and Maxwell Wallace, who is in the government service at Fort Riley, Kan. Mrs. Fanny Holloway of Lawrence, Kansas, a sister, and one brother, John Wallace of this city, also survive.

Mr. Wallace had frequent attacks of heart trouble, and spent a restless night. He came to his death sitting in a chair at his home.

Mr. Wallace was a member of the First Presbyterian church and for many years took an active part.

No funeral arrangements have been made yet, owing to the distance of some of the relatives.

MANY PEOPLE VICTIMS OF FAKE CHARITY PLAN

Well Known Woman in Rushville
Asks For Donations by Phone
and Uses Them Herself

CAUGHT IN TRAP; NOT ACCUSED

Quite a few people of Rushville have been the victims of a novel scheme used by a certain woman in Rushville, who pretends to be some one else, and in a telephone conversation asks for donations for a "needy family" in the west part of the city. This plan worked successfully on several women in North Main street, and anyone asking for donations should investigate it thoroughly before giving food or money.

This woman, as the plan is explained called up another woman and said that the family was in need of food and money and the North Main Street person consented to donate 50 cents. The supposed "charity worker" told them to leave the money at a certain store. Others who were approached gave potatoes and food.

Store keepers became suspicious when the woman, who is a well known character, called for the different things, and a trap was laid, in which she was caught, but nothing has been done with her, and other people, when requested to donate, should be on their guard, and be certain who will be benefited by the charity.

Orson Ryan, Who Spoke Tuesday About Community Short Course, is Getting Things Ready

NO ADMISSION FEE REQUIRED

Purpose is to Assist People in Solving Farm Problems and Community Movements

Orson P Ryan of Chicago, a representative of the agricultural extension department of the International Harvester company, who addressed a meeting of committees in the court house Tuesday afternoon, is here for the purpose of assisting in making preliminary arrangements for the agricultural short course which will be held February 2 and 3. The speakers and demonstrators who will come here to assist in conducting the short course will be people of exceptional ability and broad experience. The party will be headed by Prof. P. G. Holden, field director of the extension department, who for 30 years has been one of America's greatest leaders in agricultural and community development.

The sole purpose of the short course will be to assist the people, so far as possible in solving the many problems of the farm, the farm home and the community.

There will be demonstrations and discussions of topics pertaining to the farm and to the home and the short course will be entirely different from anything ever held in this vicinity. In fact it will be in the nature of a farmers' and housewives' chautauqua. All the lectures will be illustrated with large charts or lantern slides and, at the evening sessions, educational moving pictures will form the most of the program.

These pictures will consist of what has been declared to be the best agricultural reels ever produced.

The short course will be for everybody—men, women and children—and will be equally interesting and instructive to those living in town as to those living in the country.

The public will be invited to attend all sessions and no admission price will be charged.

Sentative James E. Southard of Michigan City and Representative Henry L. Hamrichouser of Plymouth were absent.

Governor-elect McCray made the following statement regarding the election of McClure as speaker.

"I naturally am pleased over the election of Judge McClure, as speaker of the House, but I have no elation because of the defeat of his opponents.

"As the titular head of the state's government I realize that I will be held responsible for the acts of the administration. Sincere in my desire for a most efficient and successful administration of the state's affairs, I made known my choice for the speakership only after most deliberate and painstaking consideration of the attributes and experiences involved.

"At no time did I attempt in any way to dictate to any member how he should vote, nor did I insist on any one voting against his pledge or his own best judgment.

"The defeated candidates have my best wishes and assurances that their sphere of usefulness in the coming session will now be lessened or circumscribed by the fact that there has been a contest."

Following his selection, Representative McClure received the congratulations and best wishes of both of his opponents. The contest, while it had been extremely spirited, ended in expressions of friendliness and pledges of support to the victor.

"I know that I made a good race," said Representative Miltenberger of Muncie following the caucus. "I'm feeling fine and am ready to do my part in the work of the session to come. I have already congratulated the Speaker."

Representative Miltenberger, while the Governor-elect favored another candidate, did not take an anti-administration attitude. It was a compliment to him personally that he received as many votes as he did. His strength came largely from members who had served with him in the last two sessions. Representative Givan's vote was limited almost to Marion county members.

Without injury to hair or scalp, "Brownatone" imparts natural, lasting colors that defy detection. Does not rub or wash off and requires just a few moments to apply.

Guaranteed absolutely harmless. Druggists everywhere sell and recommend "Brownatone." Two sizes—50c and $1.50 with easy, complete directions. Two colors—shading from "Golden to Medium Brown" and "Dark Brown to Black."

OIL DISCOVERED IN WILD REGION

South American District Flanked on One Side by Mountains and on Other By Unexplored Land

HARD PROBLEM TO SOLVE

Gran Chaco Which Has Resisted White Man From Pizzaro's Day to This Must Be Forced to Yield

Washington, Jan. 6.—The new South American oil field is bringing gray hairs to a group of U. S. engineers. Geologists believe they have discovered oil in a Bolivian district which is flanked on one side by mountains three miles high and on the other by an unexplored land, inhabited by savage Indians. There are several million acres of American concession in this remote Bolivian field. They are wasted unless the engineers can outwit the Andes mountains, or the Gran Chaco.

The Gran Chaco is a wild region to the east of the La Paz district of Bolivia, where the new oil field has been found. A white man crossed it once, they say. But he died in 1550. He was one of the Spanish Conquistadores. Other venturesome gentlemen have attempted the journey since, but the Indians got 'em. The Andes bulk from 15,000 to 17,000 feet high, to the west of the field, cutting off access to the Pacific Ocean. No railroads cross the range in this region. Tunnels are impossible. But the world needs oil, and American "oil hounds" are on the job, and that, it is said here, means that the Gran Chaco, which has resisted the white man from Pizzaro's day to this, must now be forced to yield.

A 500-mile pipe line across a neck of the Gran Chaco would carry oil from the La Paz field to a point on the Panama River, and from there it could be tanked to the South American Atlantic seaboard. U. S. government field men who have recently returned from this territory say a small army would be needed to fight the Indians while laying the pipe line through their territory and that a constant guard would be necessary along its entire length to prevent its destruction.

Other parts of the new South American oil field offer fewer transportation difficulties, but none, it was said here, have more promising indications of yield than the Bolivian district.

U. S. Government trade representatives, after a year's survey of the territory, expressed the belief that an oil field great in area, but as yet of unknown production, extends the length of South America just east of the Andes. Explorers of a dozen countries are scurrying the length and breadth of this region, with American companies easily in the lead, both in the number of parties in the field and in the amount of acreage for which concessions have been obtained.

Great reticence and secrecy have been maintained by American oil interests about their South American prospects and accomplishments. Government reports here indicate, however, that American concessions are so extensively scattered through every possible field in South America that wherever the "big gush" comes, oil men from this country will probably be in a position to control the largest acreage of any foreign group.

All South American countries are chary of permitting outright sale to foreigners of oil land rights, according to information here. Concessions permit the holder, under governmental regulations, including a tax of a percentage of production, only to lease the land for a prescribed number of years with rights of lease-renewal.

MANY STARVING IN CENTRAL EUROPE

Famine, Cold and Disease Are Decimating Once Happy Populations At Rate of Thousand a Day

HAVE STARVATION DROPSY

Vienna Formerly a Luxurious City is Today in State of Miserable Pauperization and Dying Rapidly

By LLOYD ALLEN (U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London (By Mail).—Central Europe is in the midst of its blackest winter in history. Famine, cold and disease are decimating once happy populations at the rate of hundreds sometimes thousands per day.

Millions are starving slowly. Their appearance is horrible to behold. They are not dying up into skeletons, like the famine victims of India and Armenia. These Polish Russian and Austrian sufferers have "starvation dropsy." It is brought about by almost complete absence of albuminous elements and fats in food and the eating of unusual quantities of vegetables—grass even—after which these hordes marked for death drink enormous quantities of water. A terrible bloat results.

In these terror-stricken lands babies are born to parents who have not a single rag of garment with which to clothe them; they are wrapped in pieces of paper and perish from cold.

To travel through Central Europe is a nauseating experience especially to an American. The memory of famine districts can never be eradicated.

It's a series of startling visits to orphanages and refuges where scores of babies—many of whom will never walk because of aggravated rickets that twist little legs into corkscrews—drag themselves about filthy corridors like stricken animals.

There are two astounding features of this heartrending picture: First, is the outward cheerfulness of suffering nations where there is still hope that next month will see an improvement in their pitiable situation. Secondly the reverence with which millions speak of America, where all dream of going and which all regard as the only "Land of Promise" left in the world. Because from America come food and funds for feeding nearly 2,000,000 children in the worst stricken lands of Poland, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Two years ago statesmen of England and France feared general Bolshevik revolutions in the hunger lands. Today this fear is practically vanished. The object lesson of starving Russia under Red rule holds forth no hope to the hungry of Poland and Austria.

Danger may exist in the form of a Red invasion engineered by the Red Rulers at Moscow; but this threat is generally considered quite remote.

Poland where the Americans are feeding 900,000 children daily, has seen further unheard of increases in the cost of living. Prices have generally increased 4,000 percent, according to official reports. Central Lithuania is almost wholly without food.

Vienna however is by long odds the scrotest pressed capital of Central Europe. Once the proudest most luxurious city of the continent it is today in a state of miserable pauperization, dying rapidly. Its fate, according to general prediction, is that of becoming an Entente Colony.

Today 2,000,000 Viennese are cut off from their traditional sources of food. With worthless Austrian kronen the Viennese cannot buy from the plentiful food stocks of Serbia and the provinces of Jugo-Slavia from where, for centuries, the Vienna people secured fats and grain. In 1914 the kronen was worth twenty cents in American money. Today one kronen is worth a quarter of a cent.

Strange diseases have made their appearance in this once gay capital of the Hapsburgs. Hundreds suffer from brittle bones, which break at the slightest jar. Thousands have irritated ulcerated stomachs from eating vegetables—especially cabbage—and can digest only the most nutritious foods such as milk and wheat bread, both commodities beyond the reach of any except the ultra-rich.

Strangely enough in this charnel house of Vienna; where the ashes of Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert, Johannes Brahms and Johannes Strauss are buried, the musical tradition has not been starved out—though it seems only a question of a few more months before the endurance of the big musical colony is finished—the works of these great composers are still played in heatless opera houses.

And Lehar, whose "Merry Widow" delighted all America, has produced another wonderful operetta "The Blue Mazur" which is even more melodious, dreamy and wistful than the "Merry Widow."

to my pledge", the governor said in conclusion.

"We have dare to do in some instances what may have appeared to some to be impolitic, when the easier way would have been to have done nothing at all, but we have acted solely in behalf of the people of the state, have been guided by a determination and a high purpose to serve them.

"As I look back over the record of the past four years, I would not, had I the power to do so, change it in any important particular. I am content with the things accomplished. My only regret is that I have not been able to do more for the people of the state who entrusted me with the governorship."

Governor Goodrich retires Monday in favor of Warren T. McCray of Kentland, his successor. Shortly after his inauguration, McCray will also address the legislature, recommending legislation which he thinks should be enacted.

The governor discussed a possible reorganization of the state government, saying:

"In the not distant future, Indiana and the various functions of such government, believe in a simplified form of state government. Elective offices, the duties of which for the most part are administration, should be abolished. A large number of state boards should be eliminated and various functions of such officers and boards should be consolidated in a few departments, which are responsible to the chief executive.

"It is my frank opinion that more and better service can be rendered and that the public will more effectively control their own affairs if the executive and the administrative functions of our state government are centered in the governor and in the state departments responsible to him than can ever be possible with the present division of authority."

certificates of the same series at federal reserve banks and the treasury, department, exchanges of registered certificates to be made through the postoffice of registration.

Owners of War Savings certificates who desire the protection of registration are urged by the treasury to exchange their War Savings certificate for a Treasury Savings certificate, rather than to seek registration on the War Savings certificate at a postoffice. In addition to its other advantages the Treasury Savings certificate gives the benefit of central registration at the treasury and provision for direct payment by the treasury. The latter provision will facilitate payment in case of change of residence since a registered War Savings certificate can be redeemed only at the postoffice at which it was registered.

The new Treasury Savings securities offered for 1921 supply a $1 unit for saving and a registered government security in the $25 denomination which can be conveniently bought through the accumulation of the $1 Treasury Savings stamps. More important still, the new securities complete a most attractive line of government savings securities, the $1 stamp and the $25, $100 and $1,000 registered Treasury Savings certificates, and thus place the Treasury Savings movement on a solid peace-time basis.

The Indiana Legislature

The selection of John F. McClure at the caucus of house republicans in Indianapolis Wednesday night for the speakership indicates that Governor-elect McCray has things well in hand and that under his guidance the session of the general assembly should be smooth-running and should accomplish something noteworthy. Some efforts has been made to stir up dissension over the speakership contest, but the outcome of the caucus makes it manifest that harmony will be the watchword of the session. Governor Goodrich made some suggestions in his address today which are worthy of consideration by the legislature, but the assemblymen are not so much interested in

Legislators Find No Rules Against Chewing, But Smoking Is Abandoned

Senators and Representatives Are All "Lined Up" When the Assembly Opens and Refreshments Are Available in the Corridors. Cuspidors Provided For the Chewers But There is No Smoking During Working Hours.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—The big show is on! Under the gaze of a sideline full of spectators and lobbyists, 50 state senators and one hundred representatives took their seats in the legislative chambers today for a 60 day "stand." Outside in the corridor, the refreshment counter was going full blast. It has candy and chewing gum for the "sweet tooth, oranges and apples for the hungry, pop and other beverages for the thirsty and cigars and chewing tobacco for users of the weed. Business was thriving although war time prices still prevailed.

During the working hours of the house and senate, the members are his recommendations as those which will be made by the incoming governor next Monday. On Governor-elect McCray falls the responsibility for carrying out the platform pledges of his party and very naturally his words will be analyzed more carefully. Although the outgoing governor has been very much criticized, his administration has been characterized by several worthy achievements, not the least of which was the tax law. This measure has been misrepresented and its administration re-

When We All Fly

One of the great wonders of all ages is the development of aerial navigation.

A few days ago a mail plane, carrying its pilot and four hundred pounds of fast mail, traveled the distance from Chicago to New York in five hours and thirty-one minutes. By air line the two cities are 742 miles apart.

From Cleveland to New York the average rate of speed was 151 miles an hour.

It appears now that there is but one great obstacle to the universal use of the airplane for passenger and traffic purposes. That is the certainty of instant death in case it becomes disabled and falls to earth.

But doubtless some day science will overcome this obstacle. A means will eventually be found whereby the airplane will no longer be heavier than air, thus rendering it possible to hold it suspended between earth and sky.

When that day comes every citizen of any means will want his plane.

There is no limit to the possibilities of the airplane.

And there is little doubt as to the

Can Guessing Win?

Between the prices paid to the producer and by the consumer there is a staggering difference.

There is one way to assure both farmer and consumer a fair price for food—that is through careful Farm Cost Accounting. The Farm Bureaus are instituting a national campaign to hurry the Government investigation of the costs of actual food production and distribution. Once the whole problem has been carefully and publicly sifted, it will be possible to put prices on a basis of justice to both producer and consumer and to eliminate the unreasonable unearned profits that are made "in the dark."

Every farmer owes it to himself to further the cause by lending his individual support to the work of the Farm Bureau. There's only one sensible way to run the race for fair profits. Leave in the stable the willing but crippled mule, Farm Cost Guessing, and make the running on the thoroughbred, Farm Cost Accounting. It's the only way to win.

This conclusion is not a snap judgment by THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, but the result of careful study. Our editors and investigators travel 300,000 miles a year to study farm problems and to report the best farm opinions of the country. We voice the honest opinions of the American farmer. THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains famous fiction, striking pictures, great cartoons, and lots of smiles—it comes 52 times in a year—but perhaps it is most appreciated for its practical helpfulness. It makes money for farmers. Only $1.00 for a year's subscription will prove it to you—send bill or check.

District Meets Will be Held Same Week That High School Meets Are in Progress

Indianapolis, Jan. 6—Plans have been completed for a series of basketball tournaments in which American Legion posts throughout Indiana will participate; to be held in March, 1921. Throughout district tournaments will be held, at centers to be picked by the thirteen district athletic chairmen of the Legion. Winners of the thirteen meets will play for the state championship at South Bend.

Plans for the tournaments have been worked out by a committee consisting of James H. Mason, Gary, athletic officer of the department, chairman; L. Russell Newgent, department adjutant, Indianapolis; Philip B. Stapp, Greensburg; Raymond Brown, Terre Haute; Perry O'Neal, Rushville; Ben Rogers, Frankfort; Kenneth Yarnell and Thomas King, Wabash, and George Cooper, South Bend.

The district tournaments will be held during the week when the state high school tournament is being held. The thirteen sections are composed of posts in the thirteen congressional districts. More than 200 posts are now engaged in inter-post contests, preparatory to the district tournaments. The state tournament at South Bend will be one week after the district tournament.

In several of the districts, championship trophies will be awarded. Several trophies will be awarded to the winner of the state meet at South Bend.

The committee has worked out a set of rules to govern all Legion games. By these rules, none except post members can represent a Legion post in any basketball game.

EM-ROES COP ONE

Fairmount, Ind., Jan. 6—Before the largest crowd of the season here the Em-Roes outpassed and outshot the local independents here last night and won, 20 to 21. The Em-Roes overcame Fairmount's 12 to 11 lead at the end of the first half soon after the second half started and were never headed the rest of the way.

ARLINGTON TEAM LOST

The Arlington Athletic Club lost last night to the Connersville American Legion team at Connersville by the score of 35 to 28. The Arlington team was within one point of tying the score, just two minutes before the game ended, but Connersville had a streak of luck, and piled up the score to 35 points, holding Arlington down to the 28.

The Solution of Your Health Problems

The Health Problem is as old as the hills. For centuries men and women have been endeavoring to solve it. Drugs, Osteopathy, Electricity, Surgery have all been tried and found of little avail because they have paid too much attention to the effect and have neglected the cause. Chiropractic has solved the problem. This Science, as practiced by competent Chiropractors, ascertains the Cause and proceeds at once to adjust it. Once the Cause is taken care of, the trouble disappears, Nature gets in her work and Health is the result. Thousands of men and women all over the country have reason to bless the day that Chiropractic was discovered.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE HAS TWO GAMES THIS WEEK

Rushville Varsity Will Meet Liberty Here Friday Night and Fortville Saturday Night

BROWNSVILLE IN PRELIMINARY

The Rushville high school basketball team has two games here this week, meeting the Liberty team on Friday night, and on Saturday night the Fortville team will come here for a game.

Rushville had little trouble last Friday night in defeating Liberty on their own floor, and the local team will take things easy, in order to be in good shape for the Fortville game.

Brownsville will also come here Friday night to meet the second team from the local high school, and this game should be a thriller as Rushville was beaten last Friday night by three points by Brownsville on the Liberty floor.

Liberty will remain over Friday night and on Saturday night will be the attraction at Fairview. On Friday night the Morristown high will meet the Milroy high, at Milroy and a good game is expected as it will be the first time these teams have met this year.

LOCAL K.O.F.C. QUINTET WINS

Defeats Greensburg Wednesday Night in First Game of Season

The Rushville K. of C. basketball team chalked up a victory last night in the opening game of their season, when they went to Greensburg, and returned with the big end of a 22 to 7 count. The local team started the game with Myers and Byrne for wards; Caron at center; Doll and Carroll at guards. Moorman was substituted for Myers and McCoy went in for Caron, before the game was ended. The game was fast, with the local team having the better of the deal, all the way through. The St. Mary's school team of this city lost to the Catholic school team of Greensburg by the score of 18 to 7.

Return games will be played in Rushville in the near future, and other teams will be booked by the local K. of C. team.

AMUSEMENTS

Feature Here Two Days

Chartering a complete street carnival company, including every animal, tent and person connected with the organization, forms an interesting chapter of the production history of "Something To Think About" which will be shown at the Princess Theatre today and tomorrow. Cecil B. De Mille, producer of this unusual Paramount screen drama, wished to establish in the mind of his central feminine character the difference between two men—the youthful and virile; the other older and crippled.

With this object in mind, he selected a day at a typical country fair, as the time and place. The two men, the girl and her father comprise one group of visitors.

But it was first necessary to duplicate the country fair in question. This difficulty was solved by leasing a traveling street carnival company for a period of one week and adding to this background half a thousand "extra people".

The carnival included the usual fat lady, the snake charmer, fire-eater, hula hula dancers and other freaks and strangely talented performers. All entered into the spirit of the picture and lent to the episode a striking note of realism.

A New Western Play

That popular idol of the screen, William Farnum, is coming to the Mystic Theatre tomorrow in his latest William Fox production, "The Orphan", a stirring story of the West, written by Carlence E. Mulford.

In "The Orphan" Mr. Farnum has

one of the most powerful roles of his career, according to advance reports. He is cast as an outlaw hated and feared more violently by the cowpunchers than anyone known to the little town of Ford's Station. It is said that Mr. Farnum puts tremendous dash, vigor and fire into this powerful story of the days of bandits and Indians and stagecoach holdups.

Mr. Farnum appears as The Orphan, a victim of misfortune and circumstance, who has been accused of committing numerous crimes, the worst of which were not of his doing. How he gains the friendship of the Sheriff—who has gone out to capture him—and subsequently makes a new start in life after winning the love of a beautiful girl, is told in the development of a plot which, it is declared, never has been surpassed by any in which Farnum has figured on the screen.
